Public Ceremony At New Building To Mark Program

All Is Ready For Cornerstone Laying At 5 o'Clock This Afternoon

STONE ARRIVES DURING MORNING

Temporary Stand Is Erected For Speaking Program; Brief Addresses

Shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon, a ceremony destined to go down as one of New Castle's most memorable community events—the laying of the cornerstone at the new post office on the public square will be in progress.

New Castle welcomed the program today as it means that a new United States government building, being erected at a cost of $200,000, will have reached a significant stage in its construction and now remain in the order of intensive work until its dedication about a year from now.

Judge To Preside

President Judge R. L. Hildebrand will tap a gavel this afternoon to bring the program to a start, following which the Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, will offer the invocation.

Band music played by a concert band provided by B. J. Biondi will lend snap to the outdoor exercises at different times during the program.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne, head of a special executive committee in charge, will make the opening remarks, after which Chairman Hildebrand (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

With the women of the city preserving berries at this time of year, they are asked to keep in mind the fact that October 16 will be the gathering day of food stuffs for the Almshouse and put aside a glass or jar of the goodies they make at this time, so it can be collected for the home in the fall.

Two local youths have made a tandem bicycle out of two regular bicycles, and are able to get around pretty well on the thing. The only trouble is that the middle wheel to which is attached the handle bars has a tendency to turn occasionally, and it takes considerable practice to guide the machine.

Flags were flying in New Castle today, as a result of the request of the mayor, in observance of the cornerstone laying ceremony at the new federal building on the public square.

Drivers using the new West Pittsburg highway will have to use caution and drive slowly, at least until the guard fences are erected along the curves and fills. There are numerous danger spots along the new highway and as yet unprotected by the usual fence.

Pa. News notes that one field of wheat has already been cut in Lawrence county. It is located along the New Castle-Wampum road, just a short distance below Willow Grove.

The plot along the New Castle-Wampum road, where the memorial tablet to the Moravians, first settlers, is maintained, is in most satisfactory condition.

Extra Turns At Tin Plants In City Because Of Fourth Holiday

In order to compensate time taken off for the observance of the Fourth of July, the hot mills of the Shenango and New Castle Works will operate until midnight Saturday July 1, and resume Sunday night at midnight, according to a statement by D. S. Pyle, general manager of both plants, today.

The mills will work from Sunday midnight to Monday midnight and will be off from Monday midnight until Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock to permit employees to observe the national holiday.

Other departments of the plants will carry on, not quite on the same schedule as the hot mills but sufficiently to keep the black plate from the hot mills going through.

State Supreme Court Decision Ousts Him From Public Service Body

DECISION FAVORS PINCHOT STAND

Goodnough To Become Head Of Public Service Commission Now

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today won a signal political victory when the state supreme court, in a unanimous decision, ousted Dr. Clyde L. King as member of the public service commission.

The court ordered Dr. King to pay the costs of the litigation.

The court's action leaves the road open for C. J. Goodnough of Emporium, Cameron county, former speaker of the house, to assume leadership of the commission. His post as chairman was claimed by Dr. King.

A demurrer filed by Dr. King to quo warranto proceedings to show cause why he should not be ousted, which were instituted by Attorney General William A. Schneider on behalf of the governor, was overruled by the court.

Once Political Ally

Once a close political ally and intimate adviser of the governor, Dr. King broke with the chief executive on a question of policy in the senate utilities investigation. When the last session of the state senate failed to confirm Dr. King's reappointment with the designation of chairman, the governor contended that he was no longer a member of (Continued On Page Two)

County Treasurer William O. Pitts To Distribute Cash In His Hands

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has collected $10,350 for beverage licenses issued in Lawrence county. This amount includes the ten dollar fee which is paid when the applicant applies for a license.

The city of New Castle will receive the largest amount, $10,350; Ellwood City will get $3,375; Bessemer, $250; Enon, $150, and the county of Lawrence, $3,062.50. Each district gets the total amount of money paid for licenses in the district.

It will now be up to the different districts to determine what they are going to do with the money.

National Deficit Is $1,770,000,000

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 30.—Uncle Sam ended the 1933 fiscal year today about $1,770,000,000 "in the hole."

This compared with a deficit of $2,860,000,000 the year before. However, expenditures of $1,258,000,000 representing security purchases from the R. F. C. were not carried in the regular budget.

Several good storms were reported in the surrounding district again yesterday, but none fell here. Pa. The only threat of storm here was a few scattered drops of rain early last evening.

Only within the past few weeks 25 more workers were added because the demand for reconditioned cars has grown with an increase in freight business.

The 300 does not include the employees of the engine house department.

(International News Service) JENKINTOWN, Pa., June 30.—Two men were held for investigation by police here today following the death of Mrs. Anna Abronovitz, 42, of Pittsburgh, the mother of one of them on a Philadelphia-Easton bus in South Jenkintown.

Those held are Nicholas Teslevy, 22, a son by a previous marriage, with whom she resided, and George Parks, of Pittsburgh, who said he was a private detective.

Police said the three were on their way to Easton for a civil suit to recover money which had been paid by an insurance company to Mrs. Abronovitz's brother-in-law who was named beneficiary in policies on the life of her husband.

The two men were held after they told conflicting stories about the woman's condition prior to her collapse on the bus, according to police. An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of the woman's death.

Lindberg Testing Plane For Flight On Northern Route

By DAVID P. SENYER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 29.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, whose air adventures and private joys and sorrows are better known to the world than any living mortal, is back in the headlines again.

Weather permitting, the 31-year-old aviator, an unknown mail pilot six years ago, today or tomorrow will test out his plane in which he will make a flight to Greenland with his wife within a few weeks.

The new Lindbergh air saga will consist of a survey for a northern flying route to Europe for passenger and mail planes of Pan-American Airways.

It is probable that the famous flying couple will continue across the Atlantic Ocean from Greenland to Iceland and perhaps to Denmark.

The Steamer Jelling, which will serve as a base ship for the expedition, has already left Philadelphia for Greenland with provisions, fuel and a technical staff aboard.

Same Plane To Orient

The ship Lindbergh will fly is the same plane in which he and his wife flew to the Orient. A new 600 horse power Wright Cyclone motor was installed in it at Essex Field, Caldwell, N. J.

When the news is flashed within a few weeks that the flying Lindberghs are off again, the eyes of the nation, once more will be turned toward the horizon.

In this adventure, there are two, in contrast, with the solitary Lindbergh flight to Paris six years ago which made him the man of many headlines.

Drag Allegheny River For Body; Two Others Escape Drowning; Planes Used

CANOE CAUGHT IN WHIRLING POOL

(International News Service) KITTANNING, Pa., June 30.—Airplanes were used today in an attempt to locate the body of William M. Hellman, 29-year-old attorney, drowned while canoeing near Allegheny river dam No. 7.

The planes cruised back and forth over the river for more than an hour today as observers tried to sight the body. They reported they had been unable to find any trace of the drowning victim.

River Dragged

Dragging of the river was continued by rescue parties composed of firemen, dam workers and volunteers. An all night search had been unsuccessful.

Two companions of Hellman, Edward Cree and Miss Anna Bonstein, escaped as the trio was catapulted into the water when the boat was whirled about violently. The canoe was caught in a swirling pool of water.

Miss Bonstein, a swimming instructor at Gates Pool here was thrown into shallow water. She scrambled ashore and spread an alarm. Firemen answering her call for aid rescued Cree.

Hellman, caught in the rushing undertow of the dam was dragged down although he was a powerful swimmer and an excellent athlete.

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LONDON, June 30.—For the second time in history, an international conference looked to President Franklin D. Roosevelt today to save it from collapse.

The nations of Europe joined in an appeal to the American executive, asking him to use his power and influence to stem the roller-coaster fluctuations in the value of the American dollar. At the same time, a new attempt was launched to obtain American support of a temporary currency stabilization agreement.

Action of the conference in appealing to President Roosevelt recalled his recent efforts to reduce the disarmament conference at Geneva from complete extinction, which he did by sending an appeal to the rulers of all nations to collaborate in eliminating the instruments of war.

Four Friends Of Jimmy Mattern Will Scour Wastes Of Alaska And Bering Sea

WORLD FLIER HAS BEEN GONE MONTH

Planes Leave Today For Dayton, Ohio, To Pick Up Special Equipment

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 30.—Four New Yorkers left Floyd Bennett Airport today in a Bellanca monoplane to search the Alaskan wastes for Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier missing for nearly a month. Mattern was last seen crossing the Bering Sea.

The rescue plane was piloted by William Alexander, of Brooklyn. With him were Fred Petterman, Mattern's mechanic at the flying field, Harold Person, and Thomas G. Abbey, a motorcycle policeman.

Person and Abbey are to remain at home, Alaska, the base of the rescue plane's operations.

Leave For Dayton.

The Belanca monoplane was bought from Hugh Herndon with funds raised by Mattern's friends, headed by Rudy Arnold, former newspaper man and official photographer at the Bennett airport. Additional funds are being sought to buy a second plane to aid in the search.

The rescue plane headed for Dayton, O., today to pick up special equipment and will go to Chicago where maps in a trunk of Mattern's will be examined for a possible indication of the exact course the missing flier intended to follow.

In Alaska, the huge wastes will be "squared off" in 500 mile blocks for a systematic search.

which the United States was asked to sign. Despite frenzied efforts on the part of the continental "gold bloc" to obtain Britain's signature to the declaration before it was sent "on approval," the British government finally declined unless the United States signs also.

The declaration, called to Washington last night, starts out by affirming the "desirability" of a general return to the gold standard at a rate and time satisfactory to the prospective signatories.

The gold nations specifically affirm their intention of preserving their present gold rate, while nations off the gold standard, notably Britain and the United States, are called upon in the declaration to express sympathy with this position.

The declaration concludes with a unanimous statement of the desirability of preventing violent currency fluctuations.

Aimed At Speculation.

The declaration was generally regarded as aimed chiefly against speculation in currencies, which is held to have complicated the work of the economic conference.

In the course of long conversations with representatives of the gold powers before and after the cable was sent, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald made Britain's position clear. It was, namely, that Britain was willing to join with the others in drafting the declaration, but definitely would not enlist in the gold bloc by signing it unless President Roosevelt signs also.

The gold powers strove ineffectually to break down MacDonald's determined stand. The prime minister triumphed, however, when he pointed out the distinct inadvisability of attempting to rush the United States into a decision by handing President Roosevelt a "fait accompli" in the shape of a signed and sealed declaration.

He felt the American president should have time to consider the matter, but stressed the necessity for speedy action.

After being fully advised of the status of the deliberations over the currency declaration, Professor Raymond Moley, special American delegate, telephoned a detailed report to Washington for relay to President Roosevelt.

Postmaster Lake S. MacNab and former Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford and David A. Moore will lay the stone with silver-plated trowels, the gift of the local Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs. They will keep the trowels as their personal souvenirs.

The cornerstone itself arrived this morning from the Curwensville, Pa., quarries of the Pennsylvania Sandstone corporation, the company which is to furnish the building's stone.

Out of the steel and frame skeleton that now stands on the southwest public square corner will be erected perhaps the most modern post office in this section, and probably the largest of the Pennsylvania Sandstone corporation, the company which is to furnish the building's stone.

Flags fluttered downtown today as merchants and others, co-operating with local officials, took cognizance of the public observance. The entire public will share in some way or another in the program this afternoon. The city's post office employees will attend in a body, and visiting postmasters will be here to join them.

The exercises will occur at a platform built at the northeast corner of the new building.

The ultimate in pathos is a vacant seat in the senate which a governor must fill with somebody else.

THE HEART WITHIN YOU
The heart doesn't break.
It is strong and flexible, bold and enduring. From birth to death it beats away, driving the blood thru your body, pulsing from systole to diastole, always ready to do its share. It does not break unless you break. It does not fail you but sometimes you fail it... the heart does not break, but sometimes we starve it and betray it.

The heart is the Great Servant. You may lose courage, may weaken and fail, but not the heart that is strong and well... You may grow cynical and say "What's the use?" But the heart will not be cynical... You may be discouraged by failure. But never the heart—the heart beats on and on... You may say that men are brutal and women are frail and children are a disappointment. But the heart knows no such bitterness. The heart does not ask: "Why am I beating? Of what avail my endless endeavor?" The heart also asks no futile questions—the heart beats... A man says "I do not feel like doing my work today. I do not feel at all like living." But the heart, with no gift for pessimism works on forever from the first breath to the last.

There it is within your breast. Put your hand above it and feel the pulsation of that marvelous engine... beating... beating... beating... neither fretting nor falling; neither rebelling nor denying the wisdom of its effort.

You fail. You fret. You have your grave moments of doubt and despair. But within you is the Great Servant that is not confused and is not rebellious, but that has a job to do and does it well. And though you may break, your heart will not. Though you may starve for courage and strength and lay down the arms of your spirit, your heart will still be strong within you... Put your hand above it, feel its beat, listen to its throb and learn a wisdom there that is greater than any you will ever receive from lips or the deeds of any man.

PRIVACY IN BUSINESS.

Don't censure the man of responsible position, in any business, who refuses to answer questions relative to that business, from those who have a right to be asking pointed questions.

Higher officials get a reputation for being arrogant and discourteous, quite often, just because they must shut off inquisitive persons.

Naturally if the questioner becomes too persistent, he is going to get a flat and emphatic refusal to answer.

The official or the employee who will not obey orders to keep business matters to himself is really disloyal.

As an employee he must work first for the good of his company and that means: do not give out inside information.

A few men possess the tact and diplomacy to turn aside questioners. Most men, in such a place, prefer to be rude enough to stop curious ones ho try to pry into business matters, not their own.

Others carry themselves in such a way that it is hard to get a near enough approach to them to try to find out what they know.

Now, instead of being high-hat and haughty, cold and frigidly polite, these men are protecting their organizations—suppose you remember that.

When a laboratory scientist is hot on the trail of a new germ he is as thrilled as a big-game hunter tracking a jungle beast.

It is a good thing to have the baby christened early, before he gets old enough to argue theology with his parents.

If the southern farmer could sell his cotton for 10c a pound he could pay his old debts and make some new ones.

Some writers have to be radical or get no publicity.

And when a man is really hungry he can eat bread without any butter.

MILWAUKEE—Several hundred Milwaukee bottlers contend they have the world's most aggravating job. They have been filling hundreds of thousands of bottles with good beer, and they haven't tasted a drop. Brewers have issued stringent orders against pre-tasters of the brew and prohibition agents are watching the thirsty bottlers bottle.

I had 12 bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife made me empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink, so I proceeded to do as my wife desired, and withdrew the cork from the first bottle, poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I extracted the cork from the third bottle, emptied the good old booze down the bottle, except a glass, which I devoured.

I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass which I drank some.

I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, then threw the rest down the glass.

I pulled the next bottle out of my throat and poured the cork down the sink, all but the sink, which I drank.

I pulled the next cork from my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the cork.

Well, I had then all emptied and I steeled the house with one hand and counted the bottles, which were 24, so I counted them they came around again and I had 74, and as the houses came around I counted them and finally I had all the houses and bottles counted so I proceeded to wash the bottles, but I couldn't get the brush in the bottles so I turned them inside out and washed and wiped them all.

I went upstairs and told my other half all about what I did, and OH, BOY! I've got the wisest little niece in the world.

Daily Editorial Digest

Synopsis of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nations on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press Association

Reduction Of Cotton Crop Tests Whole Farm Program

Beginning Of Application Of Government Relief Offers
New Role For Staple Product And Is Watched By Country

Cotton takes a new role in national recovery as the plan for restraint of acreage is launched under the guidance of the farm relief officials in cooperation with the general recovery organization. The tendency shown is to emphasize the fact that compensation is offered for the reduction of the crop through funds provided by the action of congress, and it is believed advisable to give the plan a fair trial as a means of leading the whole country back to better conditions.

"Without control of acreage there can be no hope for practical 'farm relief,' in the opinion of the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM. Holding that 'the only other way would be cold-bloodedly to starve the farmers into crop acreages which would insure below-market-demand productivity.' The Star-Telegram assumes that 'the government is not prepared to employ such drastic methods.' That paper, while emphasizing the point that 'supply and demand finally must become the controlling force,' concludes that 'the plan under way appears to be the likeliest one so far proposed.'

Declaring that 'cotton is king again,' the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR observes that 'the government and the cotton industry are moving rapidly to bring the benefits of the farm relief act and the industrial recovery act to that great basic industry—to the farmers in the south and the textile mills of the south and north,' with 'the problem attacked on two fronts.' The Evening Star refers to the code prepared by the cotton mill industry, fixing minimum wages and limiting hours of labor, and the industrial recovery act to that great depression under the new recovery act will be in full swing."

Pointing to the unprecedented nature of the policy adopted, the NASHVILLE BANNER records that "It is declared to be fundamental to Secretary Wallace's plans and to represent the mature judgment of the president and of many farm leaders who were called into consultation." The Banner continues: "It is the secretary's hope that at least two million bales of the south's ordinary 12 million will be plowed up under agreements made by the farmers with the government through the county agents and state administrators. This will be the minimum under which Secretary Wallace will act; if possible, he will increase the plowed up crop to one-fourth of the acreage or three million bales. The government proposes that the farmers shall enter into a three-year agreement as to the amount of acreage reduction, but, of course, the stipulation as to plowing up a crop applies to only the present season."

Declaring that 'cotton has suffered even more than wheat from surplus production,' the ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE advises that 'wheat and cotton afford an admirable test of crop allotment,' and offers the judgment as to the probable results: "If paying the farmers of these crops to reduce their planted acreage fails to win the desired results, it is probable the plan will be extended to dairy products, pork and the more debatable acres of farm relief. Unfortunately, the heavy surpluses on hand make the task especially difficult. But once production can be reduced to somewhere near the level of consumption, farm relief will be greatly simplified. And if the much publicized agreement with other agricultural nations to cut down on production, as announced at London, achieves even a moderate amount of results, the outlook for the farmer will be immeasurably brighter."

"It is among the many amaze-ments of modern psychology that the south is ready to fall in with the procedure," suggests the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, arguing that "It is no time to ask questions that are even pertinent, much less to a bristle up at the suggestion of such an unheard-of procedure." Upholding the belief that "prosperity cannot return until the American farmer is lifted out of the ruck and muck of this depression," the Charlotte paper offers the opinion: "It is

Noting that the growers are "face to face with a debatable choice," the HARTFORD TIMES comments on the situation: "Inasmuch as the sale of cotton depends in considerable degree on export, the grower is intensely interested in the prospect of better international markets. It will not help him if the domestic price is artificially lifted, for the export market falls to absorb the exportable surplus as it is not intended, under the new federal plan, to produce cotton simply for the domestic market. The Wallace plan, as drafted under the provisions of the new farm relief act, is an experiment. President Roosevelt has frankly called it that."

A picnic in honor of a Pittsburgh congressman developed into a free-for-all brawl, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, three men and three women had to have a doctor look after them, and a score were placed under arrest. Bear bottles and beer mugs were freely used. Must have been a real nice party.

Syrians Give Dinner Party At Cathedral

Oriental Dinner And Entertainment In Benefit Of Church Fund

UNUSUAL SCENE
THURSDAY NIGHT

Never has the Cathedral dining room been the scene of a more extraordinary dinner and entertainment than that of Thursday night. Over three hundred New Castle people enjoyed eating an Oriental dinner and took pleasure in hearing a group of entertainers who brought with them a breath of the charm and mystery of old Syria.

Last night's event was sponsored by the Syrian Women's Orthodox Association of New Castle. It was a benefit for the Syrian Orthodox church building fund, and, aside from being a very pleasant evening for everyone, the proceeds will help materially for the construction of the church for which the New Castle Syrians have so many years hoped. They own a plot of ground on Agnew street and are visualizing the day when their dream of a church will become a reality.

Orientalism pervaded even the dinner menu. Tasty dishes, entirely new to a large number of the guests, were served. Rice and ground meat wrapped in cabbage and grape vine leaves, lamb and barley loaf—everything was different, even to the desert and the Turkish coffee. The following program was presented with Walter S. Reynolds as chairman and master of ceremonies:

Invocation—Rev. James S. Stewart.

He spoke of his long residence there and some of his experiences while in that field, before returning to the United States in 1920. He congratulated the sponsoring group for the splendid program, saying that he could testify to the reality of its every feature, even to the costumes worn by the performers.

The committee responsible for the success of the evening consisted of Mrs. Katherine Sisyuf, Mrs. Syria M. Jacob, Mrs. Jennie Abraham and Mrs. Mary Johns.

BEAVER DAMS FLOOD COUNTY HIGHWAYS

(International News Service)
UTICA, N. Y., June 30.—Up around Saranac Lake the beavers are making plenty of trouble this year according to complaints received by Inspector Ray Burmaster at the conservation office here.

They built a dam in one location cutting off the water for a saw mill pond. At True Brook the Clinton County highway was flooded from the brook dammed by beavers. The little animals pulled the same trick at Swastika and Black Brook.

Men have been dispatched to that region where they have been employed for many hours breaking up the dams and draining the highways which were flooded to such a depth that motor vehicles were blocked.

CLUCKS FOR RADIO THEN LAYS EGG

(International News Service)
DEORAH, Ia., June 30.—A "cultured" chicken which demands it be allowed to listen to the radio—soft classical music preferred—is owned by C. G. Tatro, a farmer living near here.

Some time ago, Tatro declares, the chicken was kept in the house while it convalesced from a broken leg. While it was confined it learned to love music from the radio, its owner said.

Now, well again and back with the rest of the flock, the chicken comes to the house daily, scratches on the door for admittance and sits quietly in a corner listening to the radio.

When the radio is turned off, the fowl lays an egg and stalks out of the house!

MAUG REWARD IS GIVEN TO FOUR

Two Policemen, Taxicab Driver, Woman Get $10,000 Prize At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 30.—The $10,000 reward for the capture of John Maug and Edward Turpack was conditionally distributed by the county commissioners yesterday among four persons—$7,000 to two Lakewood policemen, $2,500 to a taxi driver held up by the escaped convicts and $500 to the Lakewood woman who phoned police the tip that led to the capture.

The money is to be paid after the claimants have signed releases, and if they fail to do so their release will have to be the courts, the commissioners said.

Clyde L. Mettel, attorney for Mrs. Roy C. Kuhns, the Lakewood woman who tipped off police, refused to accept the offer for his client. Mrs. Kuhns notified police after seeing Norman Piccus, the taxi driver, bound and gagged in her yard.

Responding to her call, the two policemen, Edward Grasko and Delmar Potts, untied Piccus and with his aid located his cab and captured the two escaped convicts who had taken command of it.

In order to conciliate Mrs. Kuhns, Piccus voluntarily offered to give her $200 of his share.

The only other claimant for the reward was Thelma Kindie, branch manager of a Western Union office in Lakewood, who claims to have been held up by Maug and Turpack on May 15.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Mail Contract
Ends TonightStubbs And Fisher Conclude
Eight Years Of Service
With Post Office

William Stubbs and John Fisher, of West Madison avenue, will terminate 8 years of service to the Mahoningtown postoffice at midnight tonight.

Their contract to carry mail between the New Castle and Mahoningtown postoffices draws to a close at this time and the work will be taken over by the DeCarbo trucking concern of South Mill street, which was awarded the new contract.

Mr. Stubbs and Mr. Fisher served two terms of four years each and faithfully carried out their work, meeting all the trains and delivering the mail quickly to the local office.

District Near
Here Gets Rain

Those storm clouds which hovered threateningly over seventh ward and the rest of New Castle yesterday afternoon, were not all bark and no bite. They let loose at the New Castle junction and at Moravia, giving those localities a rain storm that was a rain storm.

Between 4:30 and 5:00 p. m. the clouds opened up and let loose all their pent up oceans. A number of automobiles enroute to Moravia pulled up along side the highway and let the rain have its own way. The storm was equally as heavy at the junction.

New Garage Roof
Here Is Complete

Construction of a new roof on the Universal garage, West Cherry and North Lafayette streets, has been entirely completed.

Work is now being concentrated on the building of a cement runway from the rear entrance on Wabash avenue to the second floor of the building, doing away with the elevator.

The repairs are those resulting from damage by fire several months ago.

WORK ON STREETS

Wilder and Swansea avenues, west of North Liberty street, have been given some attention in the past several days. These streets, each of which is a steep grade, were washed out considerably by rain-falls of early June. They required a large amount of filler.

GUILD GOING CAMPING

A group of girls from the Westminster Guild of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church are planning to leave tomorrow for Cottage Grove, near New Wilmington, where they will spend two weeks camping. Some will stay for one week, some for both. This has become an annual event for the Guild.

TOUGH ON SHOES

If walking sharpens appetites, W. C. Woods and W. F. Reed should be heavy eaters. Woods and Reed, city letter carriers for the Mahoningtown postoffice, cover about 36 miles a day. That makes about 216 miles a week, or twice the round trip to Pittsburgh.

THREE GO TO FIGHT

Mike Zumpella, James Fannella and Carl Donofrio, of this city, left on Wednesday morning for New York City, where they intended to witness the Sharkey-Camera prize fight on Thursday night.

JOIN ROLLER CLUB

Jack Solomon, Joe Cunningham, James Gallagher and Charles Dungan have taken out membership in the National Loop Roller Skating club at Chester, W. Va.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Anna McKee, of 500 West Cherry street, is still confined to her home by illness.

Bobby McGrath, of Sharon, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mick, of North Liberty street.

Mrs. A. M. Frost and daughter, Frances, of Seventh street, left Thursday night for a few days' stay in Chicago, where they will see the World's Fair.

Kenneth McKee, Edward Calvert and Albert Russo, of West Cherry street, will be home from the reforestation camp at Trout Run, Saturday, to spend the Fourth of July here.

Given Freedom
In Farm Killing

LANCASTER, O., June 30.—Ed. Warner was acquitted by a Fairfield County jury of nine men and three women here Thursday in a charge of first degree murder in the ambush slaying of Earl Basing, Warner's neighbor, on a farm near here. The jury was out one hour.

Attempting to weave a net of circumstantial evidence, the state declared Warner shot Basing August 26 after the man later slain had killed a dog belonging to Warner. Basing was shot in the back as he sat astride a horse in a lane at his home.

YOUTH STRUCK ON
HEAD BY STONE

Edwin Hoon, aged 18 years, of 415 Hutchinson street, was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital at 10:50 last evening where a laceration on his head was dressed, after which he was able to leave the hospital.

According to the report made by Hoon, he had been swimming in Neshannock creek and was sitting in a car along the creek bank when he was struck by a stone hurled through the windshield by a companion.

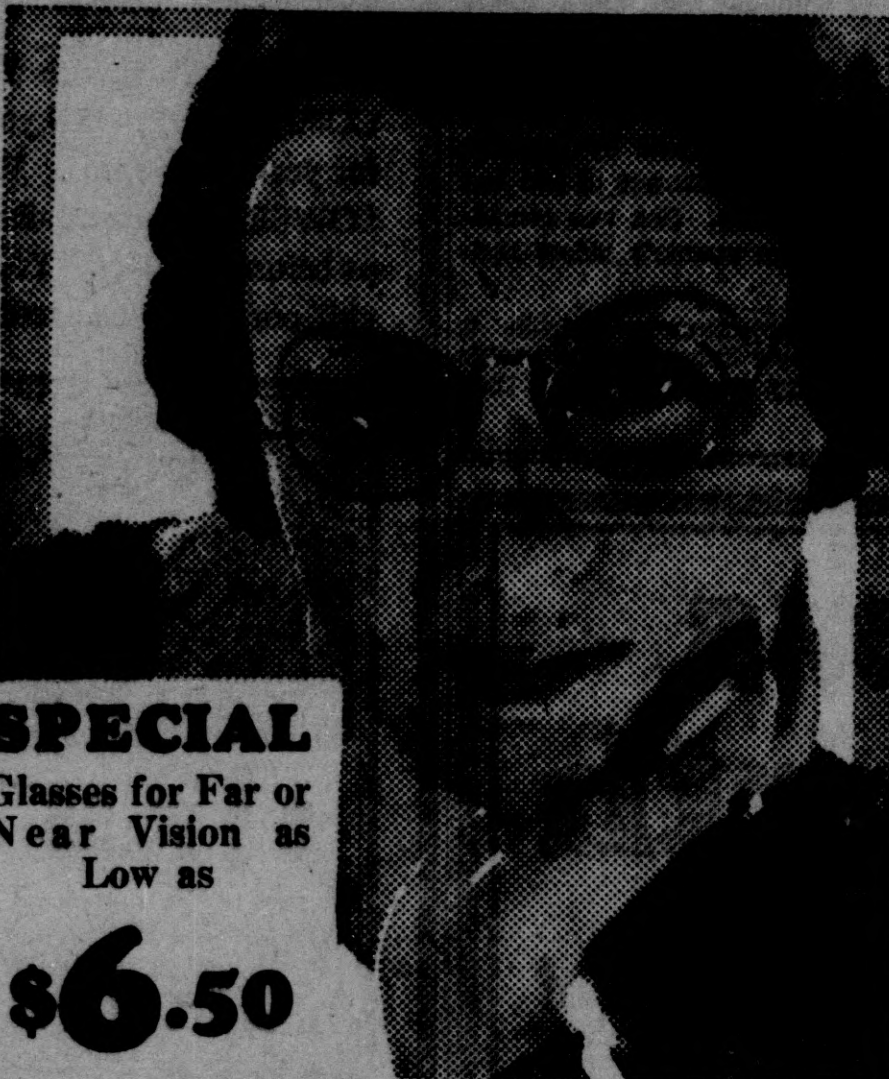

It would be interesting to know how much Jack one must have in order to doubt the authority of a Senate committee.

"Early Leaders Of Israel - Joshua"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Josh. 1:9—"Be strong and of good courage; for Jehovah thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

(The International Uniform Lesson Series begins a three months' course on "Some Early Leaders of Israel", the first lesson being on Joshua. The Scripture lesson is Joshua, chapters 1 to 6, 23 and 24, the Golden Text being Joshua 1:9, "Be strong and of good courage; for Jehovah thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

THE PROOF of Moses' greatness as a leader is found not only in his own colossal work but also in his selection and training of the leadership that was to carry on his work after death should remove him from the picture. In his choice of Joshua as his successor Moses made no mistake.

Joshua's fitness to be successor to Moses in leading the children of Israel into the promised land is testified to thus: "And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had laid his hands upon him; and the children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as Jehovah commanded Moses." He is fitly called "Moses' minister." He rose to the position of national leader through the school of service. He learned to take orders and thus fitted himself to give orders. By his loyalty as "Moses' minister" he proved himself worthy of the nation's loyalty to him as Moses' successor.

Joshua's Commission
"Moses my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give thee." Thus God commissioned Joshua to succeed Moses. Thus in every age God hurries the workmen but carries forward the work. "We rest from our labors and our works do follow us." Not only does God call and commission his servants but he equips them adequately for his work: "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee." When God calls a man to a job he is willing to foot the bill. "What soldier ever serveth at his own charges?" God will sustain his servants in any work to which he calls them. It is a wholesome thought to reassure his servants in these days of shrinking budgets: "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee!" Selah!

Joshua's Part
But Joshua is to have his part in which he is to be found faithful. "Be strong and of good courage; for thou shalt cause this people to inherit the land which I swear unto their fathers to give them. Only be strong and very courageous to observe to do according to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest have good success whithersoever thou goest. . . . Be strong and of good courage; be not affrighted; neither be thou dismayed: for Jehovah thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

God pledges his own presence and power but he also binds Joshua to his word for meditation and guidance: "This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate thereon day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein; for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." We are all eager for the return of prosperity. We are not so keen to meet these plain conditions on which God promises its return.

Ziegler Finds
Another Local
Man In Service

Writes That John Hatcher
Would Like To Hear From Members Of His Family

Herman R. Ziegler, who has been attached to the Coast Guard Service for some time, in a letter to his father, Frank D. Ziegler, tells of meeting another local man in the service and how that man would like to get in touch with his people here. The man in this case is John Hatcher and it is something like twelve years since he entered the service and heard from his people here.

The letter follows:
Stapleton, Long Island, N. Y.,
U. S. S. Hermes.

Dear Dad:
Just a few lines to let you know how I like my new ship. Boy she sure is great. Although I have not had much sea duty with it, but I sure expect to.

We left Marine Basin in Brooklyn, June 25. We had man overboard drill and finished with abandon ship drill. Our drills include many water drills. We learn all about sharks and rescue work. It is very thrilling.

We headed for the Brooklyn Navy Yard and passed the Statue of Liberty. It sure is a pretty sight, also East River as we can get in close with our speed boat.

His health is excellent and he looks fine.
When I got in off patrol, there were seven New Castle News waiting for us and the news is never too stale for us to read. I am just fine and feeling good.

Your Son,
HERMAN R. ZIEGLER,
U. S. S. Hermes.

EVERY LITTLE BIT
HELPS BALANCE BUDGET

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 30.—Uncle Sam will find Commissioner Harry L. Finch, of the Salt Lake City parks department, perfectly willing to do his part toward balancing the federal budget.

Local army officials recently received a circular from the war department instructing them that no leases are to be renewed until negotiations are completed for reducing the rental cost. Finch said the city would cooperate, and the $1 annual rental fee charged the government for parking space in the municipal airport hangar would be canceled.

TAXES SHORT

(International News Service)
NEW YORK—Tax collections for the city of New York for the first half of the year totaled a little more than $137,000,000, or about $25,000,000 short of the estimated returns expected.

USE SPACE IN GARDEN FOR LATER PLANTINGS

Now is the time to use available space for late plantings of garden crops.

Bush snap and shell beans need only 45 to 55 days to mature. Liberal plantings should be made now for late summer harvesting. Beans should not be worked when the foliage is wet and the Mexican Bean Beetle should be controlled.

Beets, carrots, and rutabagas can be planted now for winter storage. Beet thinnings may be transplanted for later maturity.

Short stemmed Danish Ball Head cabbage, planted late in June, is best for winter storage. Glory of Enkhuizen is splendid for fall use and kraut making.

Use only the best garden soil and well-grown plants for celery production. Mulch between the rows with straw manure as soon as the plants are about five inches tall.

A mulch of manure or other material about cucumbers, pumpkins, and squashes will hold soil moisture and help these plants to outgrow insect attacks.

Sweet corn planted in June will make a crop for canning or drying. Early Evergreen, Narrow Grained Evergreen, Whipple's Yellow, Golden Sunrise, and Bantam Evergreen are varieties for this purpose.

POTATO GROWERS TO TAKE SUMMER TOUR

Pennsylvania potato growers will take their annual tour August 14 to 18, according to an announcement received this week.

Two days of the week will be spent at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago and two days will be devoted to visits in the potato and dairy belts of Wisconsin and Minnesota. A special train will carry the producers 3,000 miles. Fargo, North Dakota, will be the farthest western point of the trip.

FEED GREENS TO POULTS TO STOP LITTER EATING

After the poult learn where to find the feed in the hopper, they are not so likely to eat litter. Sometimes they eat litter if they do not have access to feed. Some breeds start eating litter after they have learned to eat mash. This bad habit can usually be stopped by feeding clover, cabbage, or similar greens. The greens must be cut finely.

New Castle Hi Students Stand Well At State

State College Will Admit Students On Certificate In Upper Rank

AVERAGE EXCEEDS STATE-WIDE FIGURE

(Special To The News)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 30.—The public schools of New Castle stand among the better schools of the state if they are compared on the basis of the high schools, William S. Hoffman, registrar of the Pennsylvania State College said today. During the past five years, he said, graduates from New Castle high school who have come to Penn State have made a record placing their high school in the upper half of the high schools of the state.

Virtually every high school in Pennsylvania sends students to Penn State, the registrar said, and in this five-year study it has been found that the rating attained by a school has changed very little from year to year. Students admitted from New Castle high school have ranked consistently above the average, and on this basis the college will admit on certificate students from New Castle who were graduated in the upper three fifths of their class.

"In encouraging graduates of New Castle high school who finished in the upper three fifths of their class to continue their education, the Pennsylvania State College believes that it is expending state money in the most economical and efficient manner," Registrar Hoffman said. "Students of this grade from New Castle have proved themselves to be of college calibre. From our past experience we believe that they are capable of pursuing a college course with credit to themselves, and with profit to the commonwealth."

Students who were graduated lower than the first third fifth will be admitted to Penn State upon their capabilities as shown in a college placement test, Hoffman said.

Aimee McPherson Hutton Home-Sick

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
(Copyright, 1933, by International News Service.)

PARIS, June 30.—Aimee McPherson Hutton wants to go home. She wants to recuperate from her recent operation in the sunshine of California.

The noted evangelist, International News Service learned, expressed this wish today to attendants at the American hospital.

"I think it would be better for me to recuperate in California instead of remaining in Europe," she said.

"I would be more comfortable there."

Longs For Home.
Mrs. Hutton first intended to go to Switzerland to recuperate, and there were reports her husband, David Hutton, Jr., planned to come to Europe to be with her.

But as her strength revived her thoughts turned toward California. Dr. Charles Bove, noted plastic surgeon who performed the operation, confirmed the news that Mrs. Hutton was thinking of home.

"But with a woman of her impulsive, nervous temperament," the doctor said, "anything is possible." Mrs. Hutton is expected to be able to sit up and possibly walk around in her room next week, Bove said.

Elizabeth Dean remained to visit with her grandparents for a few weeks.

Mrs. Roy Harlan and son Glenn are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shields at Portersville Station.

David Harlan was operated on for appendicitis at the Janssen hospital Saturday evening and is getting along as well as can be expected.

NO BRASS BANDS...

But some facts that every one who drives a car should know

The Atlantic Refining Company is deeply interested in what the public thinks about this company and its products.

It is not interested in participating in any "battle of ballyhoo" within the refining industry.

For 68 years, Atlantic has been giving the public the finest products it knew how to make . . . at the lowest prices it could achieve. And the public has responded to this policy. Today, for instance, the motorists of Pennsylvania buy more than twice as much ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH as any other gasoline . . . proof, we believe, that they find high quality and unusual value in this motor fuel.

Atlantic holds no brief for or against any factor in the refining industry. There are good companies with good products, and poor companies with poor products.

But nothing is more destructive to American business than to have the factors in an industry tear at each other's throats in unfair and malicious competition.

This results in workmen losing jobs and pay. It brings a flood of cheap, shoddy products . . . often decked out in trick packages or colors to make them seem novel and attractive. It means the loss of public faith, because the public soon grows weary of unwarranted claims and bombastic challenges.

The Atlantic Refining Company has been in the forefront of every important gasoline improvement. Yet you will find no circus stunts in the promotion of ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH. No wild statements to insult your intelligence.

Atlantic is satisfied to continue making a motor fuel of outstanding merit, and let that fuel do its own selling job . . . in the engine of your automobile. Day in and day out, year in and year out, it is held and will be held to the highest quality we know.

This is why, we believe, ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH not only continues to hold the loyalty of its old customers, but is constantly attracting the patronage of other discriminating motorists.

Operations Expected To Be Under Way By National Pants Company July 6

SKILLED WORKERS ARE BEING HIRED

Operations at the Buckeye Manufacturing plant on Butler avenue extension, are expected to be under way next week. Joseph Alpert, representative of the National Pants Company, stated Thursday.

Skilled operators will be employed as far as possible, Mr. Alpert stated, and preference is being given those who formerly worked at the Buckeye plant. Applications were received from 60 former employees up to Thursday afternoon, he stated.

When operations are first started, less than a hundred people will be employed, but by the end of the month, production is expected to be near the capacity of the local plant.

UPTURN REFLECTED IN MUNICIPAL LODGING

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 30.—It's either the return of prosperity or good weather which leaves the six hundred beds at the Municipal lodging house vacant every night. Only a few months ago not only did every one of the lodge's 4,500 beds have an occupant, but an overflow of 3,500 homeless men had to be dispatched to other charity organizations for a night's sleep.

Today those 3,500 are no longer dependent upon the city for a night's rest and the Municipal is losing its residents at the rate of 200 a month. Moreover the total number of free city lodgers fell from 10,200 in February to 5,000 this month, a drop of more than 50 per cent.

LEISURELY ROBBERS PHONE FOR TAXI

(International News Service) HARBIN—Bandits in Harbin who have long been noted for their courage have added coolness and nerve to their record. A band of six raided the offices of a Chinese firm and after locking the employees in the basement, helped themselves to $60,000 in cash.

Then they leisurely telephoned for a taxi in which they made good their escape. While waiting for the car, they sat about and coolly smoked the cigarettes of the 40 men locked helplessly below.

Suggests Spray For Children

Director Of Public Safety Asked About Possibility Of Cooler For Children

With torrid weather here and people suffering from the heat an idea was advanced by Director of Public Safety D. O. Davies that it may be possible to have firemen spray water over children at the different fire houses during certain hours on each torrid day.

Davies said that the idea will be considered, but pointed out that when the city uses the water for any but fire purposes the company having the contract with the city has asked that a meter be used. There are many children who are too small to be allowed to go alone to a pool and if the children could get into spray water during the hot hours of the afternoon they would much enjoy it.

FAVORED CLIENT LIST IS REVEALED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The efforts of Kuhn Loeb & Company to help the Pennsylvania Railroad build a mightier rail empire than that dominated by J. P. Morgan & Company, was probed today at the closing summer session of the senate banking inquiry.

Ferdinand Pecora, special senate counsel, turned his spotlight on this struggle between the financial masters of Wall Street to control the American "Iron Horse." He sought light on the Kuhn-Loeb operations, after previously investigating the Morgan domination of railroads, to determine whether the American investing public paid the cost of this gigantic battle.

Lee Summoned.
Pecora summoned Henry H. Lee, president of the Pennrod Corporation, as a witness to explain the creation of an empire to rival Morgan's. This corporation was financed by Kuhn-Loeb and garnered $140,000,000 in railroad assets. It was opposed to the Morgan controlled Allegheny Corporation with its $800,000,000 of assets, including the rail interests of the famous Van Sweringen brothers.

The revelation of Kuhn-Loeb interests in railroads will feature the closing session. The inquiry then will be adjourned until October 3, when the New York Stock Exchange, investment trusts, and the international loans of J. P. Morgan and Kuhn-Loeb will be investigated. There may be an emergency resumption of the inquiry during the summer to probe the Roosevelt bull market but only if evidence is acquired showing speculators are inflating market prices.

Will Give Insight.

The railroad inquiry will give the public an insight into how it pays the cost of huge financial battles. The Pennrod Corporation was financed by Kuhn-Loeb so the Pennsylvania railroad might acquire ownership of numerous connecting lines. It subsequently purchased securities in a dozen railroads, ranging from the Boston & Maine to the Pittsburgh & West Virginia and including such prominent roads as the Chicago & Northwestern, Lehigh Valley, Katy, Atlantic Coastline, Seaboard Air Line and Southern.

Floated Securities.
The firm of Kuhn-Loeb floated the Pennrod securities. They took down a promoter's profit of $5,251,586. The stocks were unloaded on the public, reaching $30 once but collapsing later to $3.

This expansion was undertaken by the Pennsylvania railroad, with Kuhn-Loeb's aid, while the Morgan firm was financing the Allegheny Corporation that gobbled up the interests of the Van Sweringen brothers. Into the Morgan corporation went controlling interests in such roads as the Erie, the Pere Marquette, Chesapeake & Ohio, Missouri Pacific and Hocking Valley lines. The Morgan firm sold stock in various holding corporations to the public, so that the American investor really financed the expansion.

The Morgans scattered beneficence as they created their railroad empire. Through lists of "favored clients" allowed to buy choice securities at sub-market values, they gave away literally $30,000,000 in potential profits. The Kuhn-Loeb firm failed to match this generosity.

Kuhn-Loeb had its list of "favored clients" who were allowed to participate in underwriting various security issues. The profits shared were trifling compared to those scattered by Morgan.

Percy A. Rockefeller, New York capitalist, for instance, was listed for over $2,000,000 of underwriting and drew down a profit of only $40,000. Newcomb Carlton "risked" $1,000,000 and got but $8,375.

The Kuhn-Loeb generosity in inviting friends to help underwrite the Pennrod Corporation issue was illustrative of all their deals. Rockefeller made $10,000, the largest single profit among the "favored clients." W. H. Williams, Charles E. Mitchell and Henry W. DeForest were tied for second place, each with a $5,000 profit.

Rockefeller led with a $5,000 profit on the list of those who helped float a U. S. rubber security. Albert H. Wiggin and Mitchell tied for second place, each with a $4,000 profit. DeForest came third with $3,000. Williams and L. F. Loree got $2,000 each.

MORE PRISON WORK (International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—Because of increased orders from state institutions for articles of clothing manufactured at the Ohio Penitentiary, convict workers in the prison knitting mill have been placed on a five-day week. Previously, the mill had been working on a four-day week schedule.

Yet there are men who observe a government appropriation and never even wonder how to get part of it.

'EAR, 'EAR, SAID SPIDER TO FLY

Many Postmasters Are Threatened By Dismissals, Report

Democratic Regime Is Trying To Oust Hoover Appointees From Office

Weak Complaints Are Filed By Inspectors Against Republican Postmasters

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Postmasters appointed under the Hoover administration in widely separated sections of the country are being asked to resign under penalty of dismissal, it was disclosed today.

The movement to clean up the postal service, which appears to be carried on with unusual vigor, is expected to clear the way for the appointment of many Democratic postmasters in the near future.

No Removals
While Postmaster-General Farley has consistently maintained no Republican postmaster will be removed before his term expires except for cause, the threatened postmasters are deluged with complaints and representatives with complaint that the motive is political.

The post office department has refused to divulge any information upon charges filed against postmasters. Requests for information in specific cases is met with the statement that they are wholly departmental matters.

Many Threatened
A member of congress from a small northwestern state, who declined to permit his name to be used because, he said, it might prejudice the case of the postmasters, asserted that at least 100 had written him that they are threatened with dismissal before their terms of office expire.

Similar complaints are being received by Republican members of congress from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana and other states. The Republicans meet most of the appeals with the declaration that "we'd do the same thing if we came into power."

The usual notice which a postmaster receives after the inspector has made an unfavorable report reads like this:

"We have reviewed the inspector's report and find that your efficiency rating is below the standard to be maintained by this administration. We therefore suggest that you tender your resignation."

Weak Complaints

Among the complaints made by an inspector against one postmaster who happened to have more than 26 years service, is that he failed to put a revolver in the safe.

Another allowed a girl substitute, who worked an hour a day, to have a regular clerk substitute for her while she was sick. The postmaster was reported because the clerk thus exceeded the overtime regulations.

Balancing of books in lead pencil, use of parcel post cancellation stamp for first class mail or vice versa, general bad condition of the office, and political activity figure among the charges.

Political Activity

A prominent Democrat member of congress, who said many postmasters would be dismissed for cause, revealed that a study of inspectors' reports is being made. Usually, he said, the top sheet on a postmaster's bulky record praises him. But, he added, if the department digs down into the record they invariably find charges of political activity. And that, he said, is what the post office department is finding.

At the end of the last fiscal year there were 15,487 postmasters whose appointment is made by the president and who lack civil service protection. During the year ending last June 30, 4,494 received appointments from President Hoover.

OPPOSE MUTUAL CONSENT DIVORCE PLAN

Voice Opposition To New Proposal

U. P. Moderator Declares
Plan of Scientist Is Not Desirable

GENERAL ASSEMBLY SESSION CONTINUES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 30.—
Outright opposition to divorce by "mutual consent," as proposed by Prof. Charles E. Metzger of Indiana University before the association for the advancement of science was voiced today at the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church.
The Rev. Dr. W. B. Anderson,
moderator, remarked:

"The proposal loses sight of the fundamental nature of marriage which aims at a human relationship resulting in the founding of a permanent home. History proves that this divine provision alone will satisfy the needs of a foundation for human society."

Other ministers at the session declared the plan was nothing more than companionate marriage and free love.

Assembly Meeting
It was not expected that submission of committee reports today would be featured by discussion of the proposed union of the United Presbyterian and the Presbyterian churches. It was believed a general report, citing progress is being made,
would be offered.

A request by United Presbyterian committee members to the joint committee on the plan of union requesting a year's delay in submitting the plans to the assembly was received favorably. Delay was sought because of the observance of the 75th anniversary of the United Presbyterian church which resulted in a crowded program.

The assembly was expected to approve the committee's request to continue its existence another year.
Submission of the board of administration's annual report opened the prospect of improved financial conditions during the year. Receipts applicable to the budget totaled $4.7 per cent of the denomination's pledges, or $512,015. The proposed budget calls for $515,000 and, of this, $488,020 is listed as expectations, not pledges, from congregations. Additional funds anticipated includes $1,050 remaining in the Sesquicentennial fund as well as $6,688 being released through reopening of banks.

Great Britain Rallies To Roosevelt's Support At Economic Parley

By GEORGE E. HOLMES

GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM, LON-DON, June 30.—Once again rallying to President Roosevelt's support, Great Britain today refused to join the "European gold bloc in a declaration insisting upon immediate stabilization of the American dollar and pound sterling.

In a dramatic meeting with representatives of France and her gold allies, Prime Minister MacDonald and Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain refused to accept the declaration of the gold countries in its present form.

The fact that the meeting, which terminated in Britain's refusal to combat the price raising aims of President Roosevelt by immediately accepting the gold bloc demand for speedy temporary currency stabilization, lasted an hour was taken to indicate the argument had waved hot and furious.

Further discussion between the gold country representatives and the British was set for this afternoon,
Finance Minister Bonnet changing his plans and postponing his departure for Paris until this evening.

This was taken to intimate the gold bloc delegates hope it is still possible to reach agreement with the British on the text of a currency stabilization declaration.

Otherwise the gold nations would have issued their own declaration without British support, immediately, as they threatened to do last night, it was pointed out.

Paid Firemen Present Stand

Tell Council They Will Not Surrender Rights As Volunteers

BENEFITS CHIEF CONTROVERSY CAUSE

Members of the Paid Firemen's Beneficial association today notified council which met in city hall that they would not surrender their Volunteer Firemen's Relief association rights only under certain conditions.
Recently a conference between representatives of the Volunteer Firemen's Relief association and the Paid Firemen's Beneficial association met with council for the purpose of agreeing upon a division of funds received from the state by the city treasurer from the tax on foreign fire insurance premiums.

The paid firemen, most of whom are also members of the Volunteer Firemen's Relief association in a letter signed by President H. C.
Stockman and the board of directors agreed to waive relief from the Volunteer association while on salary or drawing compensation.

They said they would not agree to waive the rights of their widows or dependents in case they are killed or died from accident or sickness caused by exposure while doing public fire duty.

They will agree, they said, to waive rights to benefits from death from natural causes providing the members of the Volunteer association will do the same and confine all their relief to sickness, accident or death due from public fire duty as the laws specify, according to the letter.

The Volunteer Firemen's Relief association members have not notified council of any decision regarding the division of the fund.

The city has approximately $16-000 to divide. Of this sum about $8,000 was to go for paid firemen's pensions and the rest to the Volunteer Firemen's Relief association for relief.

MAKE VIRTUE OF NECESSITY IN YOUR LANDSCAPING

One of the first points to be considered in any landscape gardening is harmony with the setting, says Lorena Daniel. In the case of the property pictured its dominating characteristic is unconven-tionality. The lot is irregular in outline and topography, and lends itself to a variety of lines and surfaces seldom possible in so small a property—50 feet front, 120 feet deep and 67 feet rear.
The house is at the bottom of the hillside garden. At the top of the picture is shown steps and a winding walk which take up the grade and give added interest; below, right, view from the house looking up the hill of the triangular lawn, getting perspective which seems to increase the distance.
Left is the landscape architect's

Ask Dismissal Of Pennington

Determined Campaign By Pennsylvania Democrats To Oust Pennington Starts

JOSEPH GUFFEY IS FOR PENNINGTON

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 30.—A determined effort to oust Major John D. Pennington, whose domain as prohibition administrator includes Pennsylvania and New Jersey, is being waged today by a group of Keystone State Democrats.

They are facing powerful odds, as Joseph Guffey, Democratic state chairman in Pennsylvania, is backing Pennington. A strange alliance is thus brought into effect, as Senator David Reed (R) of Pennsylvania is also understood to have urged the retention of Pennington.

Demand Dismissal
With prohibition enforcement agents being discharged in all parts of the country, no action has been taken in Pennington's case.

Representative Boland (D) of Pennsylvania is one of the leaders in the demand that Pennington be supplanted by a Democratic administrator.

"He is a Republican and has been for years," said Boland. "There has been much trouble in the district.
Pennington also was drawing retirement pay from the army until Congress cut it off by passing a law that he and others like him could not get both."

"A competent Democrat can be chosen to succeed him."

The battle thus far is being waged on the doorstep of Postmaster General James A. Farley, but it may be transferred to the White House upon the President's return.

Tourist Travel Increases Here

Larger Number Of Autoists Going Through Than In Any Previous Year

As the touring season begins to come into full bloom more and more cars of other states are seen on the streets of New Castle and parking garages show a collection of foreign license plates these nights that bespeak a lot of travel.

Perhaps in no other year have there been as many New York licenses seen as there are this year.
Most of them are from New York City but many of them come from the various eastern parts of that state. For the most part they are bound for Chicago and the Century of Progress and find that New Castle is the ideal midway stopping place between the two metropolises.

"Midway between New York and Chicago" means New Castle to the tourist these days. Every week sees an increase in guests in the Castle Hotel. One night this week there were 27 foreign cars parked from the Casleton, the property of tourists going through.

Highways 422 and 17 are the ideal highways for the transcontinental tourist. The mileage is shorter, the grades easier, and there are no congested cities to traverse before getting on. The Benjamin Franklin Highway might well be termed the "high speed" highway for one can cross Pennsylvania on it with little necessity of slowing down.

And at the end of the day find themselves in New Castle with only another day's easy travel to land in Chicago.

BROTHERS CONVICTED OF DESPICABLE CRIME
DENVER, Colo.—The lowest and most despicable crime possible was committed by John Dominquez and his brother George according to District Judge George F. Dunkles.
Judge Dunkles sentenced the two brothers to from 20 years to life in the state penitentiary after they were convicted of robbing Mrs. E.
Peterson, 77.

The two posed as telegraph messenger boys and called at Mrs. Petersen's home. When she came to the door they knocked her down and took a money sack containing $80 from her bosom.

ST. LOUIS ZOO HAS THREE-RING CIRCUS
(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS—The St. Louis zoo is developing into a three-ring circus.
With the coming of summer, simultaneous performances are being planned at different sections on the grounds.

Trained lions already are going through their acts in a special arena, the chimpanzees have a show of their own, and the sea lions are acquiring sufficient talent to make their debut before audiences shortly.
Four shows are given by the lions on Sunday.

HISTORIC LIGHTHOUSE WILL BE ABANDONED
(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY—After 79 years of unflinching service, the historic Absecon lighthouse is to be abandoned.
When the lighthouse was built on a plot of ground 300 yards inland in 1854, there were no large hotels and apartment buildings such as those which now cut off its rays of warning. Because its light no longer penetrates to the ocean, the light-house will be abandoned on July 11,
the 79th anniversary of its opening.

ed a business meeting was called and officers were elected, with Esther McCue selected president, Lenora
Black vice president, Ruth Shaffer secretary, Rose Rice treasurer, Betty Nitsche press and Virginia Wom-er chairman of the program committee.

Piano numbers were played by Martha Black and she also accompanied a trio, Ruth Shaffer, Lenora sang.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 30.—Gov.
Gifford Pinchot, who telegraphed his way into the Republican organization's private spotlight at Rolling Green Park, today found his messages ignored.

The business of steaming up party leaders in the state for approaching elections proceeded without so much as a pause to recognize the receipt of the governor's telegrams to Gen. Edward Martin, state chairman, and William S. Vare, national committeeman, asking for an explanation of their attitude toward a proposed immediate legislative session to consider social legislation.

Instead the keynote of the day's gathering was a cautioning to preserve the dominance of the Republican party and its organization in Pennsylvania.

"The Democrats have a taste of victory. It means more effort on the part of Republicans than in recent years," Chairman Martin told assembled young Republicans.

Except for Vare's declaration in general terms during his speech that he is still a champion of old age pension and other humanitarian legislation, the specific questions raised by Governor Pinchot in his telegram went unnoticed.

The governor told Martin he would call a special session next month if the state chairman would pledge active support of its aims and furnish the names of senators in sufficient numbers to assure its success.

BEE JEALOUSY
SETS BIG HIVE
ON MIGRATION

(International News Service)
WOODS HOLE, Mass.—Internal jealousy between two factions of bees, that between the followers of an old queen bee, and a young queen bee, resulted in the big 30,000 hive of Miss Florence Tinkham splitting up.

Open rebellion flared up, but Miss Tinkham was able to capture the old queen and her subjects.

But the young queen and her revolting followers flew off.
In Saugus nearly 100 miles away,
Mrs. Ingrid Paridon, reported that a swarm of 7,000 bees gathered at two pine trees in her back yard, and she believed it was the same swarm which flew away from Miss Tinkham's property, three days previously.

for smoking it, were admonished by the court when they gave their respective ages.

when District Attorney Trapani remarked:

"These girls look older than 35 because they have been using this stuff."

Then one girl shouted:

"I'm only 20 and I don't look a day older."

Wants Sixth Ward Property
Placed In Secondary
Business Zone

W. W. Walls appeared before council which met in city hall today. He requested council reconsider their refusal of his request to put his West Washington street property in a secondary business zone.

Walls had made the request
some time ago and it was refused.
His property is situated on the south side of West Washington street and borders the Union township line.

He was told to make application to the zoning board and if it cared to, it could allow him to use the property for the purpose desired.

Walls said he had had opportunities to dispose of the property if it could be placed in a second business zone. It is now in a residential section.

ing of fireworks was found to be the work of children.

Senator McClure And Others Post Bail Bond Today

State Senator And 95 Others
Indicted In Huge Liquor
And Graft Conspiracy

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—State Senator John J. McClure, leader of the Republican organization in Delaware county and the 95 other persons indicted with him in a huge liquor and graft conspiracy by the federal grand jury, today trekked to the United States commissioner's office to post bail bonds ranging in amount from $7500 for the alleged leaders to $2,000 for lesser satellites. McClure, often mentioned for the chairmanship of the Republican state committee and for a gubernatorial candidacy, was indicted by the jury as the head of a political ring which sold protection to bootleggers, speakeasy proprietors and racketeers over a period of several years.

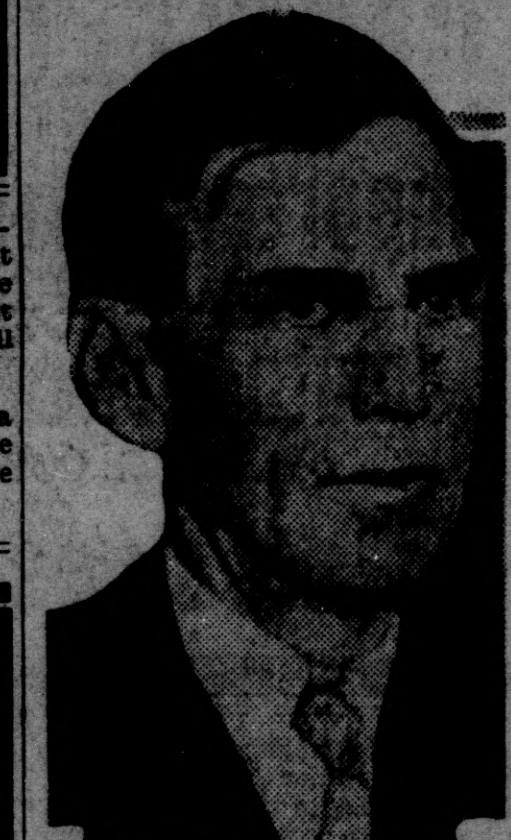

Long Probe.
Indicted with him were most of his close business and political associates, including Eugene F. White, chief clerk of the state house of representatives and a ward leader in Chester.

The sweeping bill of indictment, the climax of a ten months investigation by federal agents and a 12-day grand jury investigation, covered 40 typewritten pages and listed only one count, conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws thru bribery and graft.

CANADA WON'T GET NEW LIQUOR PROFIT

MONTREAL—Even for medicinal purposes, the export of liquor to the United States is prohibited under the statute act, and so the recent act of Congress allowing unrestricted purchase of liquor from drug stores throughout the United States will have no effect on Canadian export. The act prohibiting the export of alcoholic liquor to the United States came into effect on July 1, 1930 and was passed by the Canadian parliament as a friendly gesture to United States. Much liquor is bootlegged across the border, however, but this of course is not of the variety used for medicinal purposes.

VATICAN CITY, June 30.—Pope Pius XI emerged from the Vatican again today to visit the Basilica of St. Paul and attend celebration there of solemn high mass.

The ceremony was similar to the pope's recent visit to St. John's Lateran, where a solemn mass was celebrated by Magr. Rossi for the pope.

Absolute Property.
Only a short time ago, by virtue of the Lateran treaty, the Basilica became the absolute property of the Holy See. Therefore, in making the visit, the holy father not only made one of the prescribed jubilee visits, but took possession of the Basilica as well.

After the papal procession entered through the jubilee door, it advanced to the altar, where the holy sacrament is kept. The pope and all present fell on their knees and recited the jubilee prayer, after which mass was celebrated.

After visiting the adjoining Benedictine monastery, the pontiff returned to the Vatican.

Notables Attend.
Before entering the Basilica for the ceremony, however, the pope rested in the apartment of the abbot of the monastery until the procession was formed. Seventeen cardinals, many bishops and other dignitaries participated.

Among the notables present were Vice Chancellor Von Papen of Ger-

New Emergency Farm Mortgage Act Explained

How Lawrence County Farmers Will Be Benefitted Under Recent Act

Farmers of Lawrence county will be interested in a statement received by W. W. Stevenson, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association, from Charles S. Jackson, president of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, telling of the provisions of the new emergency farm mortgage act.

For a period of 8 years beginning July 1, the interest rate on Federal Land Bank mortgages on their loans will be reduced to 4 1/2 per cent. This reduction will be made automatically. The rate of interest on outstanding loans now varies from 5 to 8 per cent, the average being about 5 1/2 per cent.

New loans made through national farm loan associations during the next two years will be written at 5 1/2 per cent, but the reduction to 4 1/2 per cent will apply to these new loans until July 1938, and is considerably lower than that which prevails throughout this district.

Loans which are not made through national farm loan associations but directly by the bank will bear one-half of one per cent higher rate of interest. If and when such borrowers join an association when formed in their community and if their loans are in good standing, their rate will be reduced one-half of one per cent. All borrowers have to purchase stock either in an association or the bank in an amount equal to 5 per cent of their loans.

Borrowers whose loans are in good standing will not be required to make payments on the principal of their loans during the period ending July 12, 1938 if they are not in default in the payment of interest, insurance, taxes, irrigation, drainage and levee assessments.

During the next two years the bank may issue bonds in an aggregate not exceeding $2,000,000. These bonds may bear an interest rate not to exceed 4 per cent and this interest is to be guaranteed by the United States. They may be sold to the investing public to secure funds to loan or they may be exchanged for first farm mortgages.

Mortgages accepted in exchange for bonds must have been in existence prior to May 12, 1933. The amount of the bonds exchanged must not exceed in each individual case the unpaid principal of the mortgage on the date of purchase or exchange or 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land mortgaged and 20 per cent of the value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon, whichever is the smaller. The mortgaged farms will be appraised in the same manner as farms upon which loans are made by the banks through national farm loan associations. The farmer's mortgage is then owned by the bank and he will be entitled to repay it over a long series of years.

Holders of first mortgages wishing to make such exchanges should apply to the bank. All loans acquired by the bank, either through exchange for bonds or by purchase, will carry the reduced amount of interest and the privilege of paying interest only for the 5-year period.

Coal Industry
Code Next For Recovery PlanBrig. General Johnson Will Take Up Codifying Of Big Coal IndustrySTEEL INDUSTRY IS IN LINE ALSO

By T. N. SANDIFER
International News Service Staff
correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 30.—The "pineapple" of all industrial codes, that of the coal industry, today faced Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, federal administrator of industrial recovery, as his next major problem. Close behind it, so that it may nose out the coal industry for second place in the list of codes to be put through the "recovery mill" run by Johnson, is the steel industry. Aides of General Johnson were uncertain if the steel industry's code might not come in ahead of the coal operators.

Seek Agreement

The coal code, in Johnson's picturesque terms is regarded as a "pineapple" by which he means a tough one. He was reassured with news that a major element of the country's operators were in agreement and would present their code July 5.

Meantime Johnson and his staff were overhauling the textile code. A number of modifications are due to be recommended by Johnson when he passes the completed document up to President Roosevelt. The president is given final authority in writing the codes into enactment.

Shorter Hours
Chief of these modifications concern the proposed 40-hour week, which Johnson already has said would be too much for any other than the textile industry. It is believed he will meet labor's demand for a smaller number of working hours per week, on the ground that it will put more men to work to shorten the week.

Labor has protested against the minimum of $10 and $11 per week, pointing out that it automatically suggests similar low wage scales for other industries, and is too low.

Johnson is believed ready to raise this minimum to something approaching the demands of William Green, Federation of Labor head, who asked $17.60 per week. Johnson may not go this high, but probably will meet Green part way.

Code Drawn Up

He is encouraged in this compromising policy by the code which the coal operators are understood to have drawn up. This recognizes the need of a shorter work-week, and a definite minimum wage, by providing for a nationally recognized work week of not over 36 hours in the bituminous fields and a minimum of 40-45 cents per hour for an 8-hour day.

Coal operators are not ready to accept a flat rate per week, it is understood. They also must win over the so-called southern fields on some points, though these are not a majority factor. The coal code provides, besides a shorter working week, for elimination of employment of workers under 16 years, and payment of the minimum adult wage for workers of 16 and over. Some so-called southern mines, Gray said, pay as low as 17 cents per hour.

The code allows a differential of 10 per cent on living costs recognizing that this factor in wages may be lower in some parts of the country.

Minimum Coal Price
A minimum coal price, based on the actual cost of production, which in turn will be determined by nationally recognized accounting practices, under government supervision, also is asked.

Three work shifts of 8 hours each are provided, where production requires it. On collective bargaining, a sore spot in coal areas, the operators say they recognize that it is in the law, but are not very specific as to their position. Ben Gray, executive of the central associates, states that his group, and those of the north and west control a total of 225,000,000 tons of the total production for 1932, aggregating 306,000,000 tons, indicating substantial support for the new proposed code.

Robert W. Johnson, president of a leading textile manufacturing concern, urged governors of eleven southern states to protest any limitation of machinery operations, though agreeable to short work hours for the employees themselves.

Of Man Who Wanted Him
To Drive Him Home

Mike Perrett, arrested about 5 o'clock this morning in possession of the car of R. D. Cameron of Edenburg, was sentenced to spend ten days in the Lawrence county jail by Mayor Charles B. Mayne today.

The officer making the arrest became suspicious and took Perrett and the car into custody. Then called other officers and after a search found Cameron sleeping in a shack in the rear of 516 South Jefferson street.

Cameron stated to the police that he was not in condition to drive home and asked Perrett to take him home. Instead he placed Cameron in the shack and took the car, together with another man, whom Perrett refused to name and they secured a can and went out to steal gasoline from cars.

A spare tire was missing from the Cameron car, but Perrett denied disposing of it, but did admit, the police state, that he had stolen some popcorn at Meyers' store on the public square.

Chambers Affirmed
By Supreme CourtOpinion Handed Down In Account Of W. E. Porter In
The Gibson Estate

In a decision handed down by the supreme court at Philadelphia today, the decision of Judge James A. Chambers of the Lawrence county court, was affirmed in the matter of the final account of William E. Porter in the Gibson estate.

This was a case in which the late Judge William E. Porter, was guardian for a minor, and as such had made a certain loan on mortgages. In some other money was joined with the Gibson funds, and separate bonds taken.

When the account came to be settled up auditors found that the loans were good when made, but there was a question as to their value later on account of the drop in the price of real estate. Objection was also raised to the joining of funds. A surcharge was made by the auditor, but this was reversed by Judge Chambers. The case was then carried to the supreme court which today affirmed Judge Chambers.

In Road Controversy

No decision was handed down by the court Thursday on the controversy in Mahoning township over the road tax millage. A number of witnesses were heard before Judge R. L. Hildebrand, on a petition to have the millage reduced from the 7-mill levy which has been made. As it was found that additional data was needed the hearing was adjourned until this could be collected. It is contended by the taxpayers league that there has been no reduction in millage, although the state has taken over 50 miles of the 97 miles of highways in the township.

BAER-CARNERA
BOUT IN OFFING

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 30.—One moment, he stood there for all the world to see, simulating a disdain he could not hope to feel, a smirk he could not mean. The next, he was gone, snuffed out, as though a strangely sinister draft of wind had touched the flame and swiftly passed on by.

Jack Sharkey, the big bluster man the heavyweight champion whom many had hated and few loved, simply was no more. Like something broken and utterly spent, he lay face down last night by the ropes that helped betray him, while destiny sat in judgment and out there in the blackness of the night, a crowd of 35,000 gibbered and gasped and howled.

Over him stood the referee, tolling remorselessly on toward ten. But he did not heed. Around and about him, madness reigned but he could not hear. Over in one corner, consternation. In another, disorder, delirium, insanity.

And, in a third, was that huge bulk of a man called Primo Carnera, an unsightly snarl upon his lips, waiting to be proclaimed the new champion. He did not wait long. Not by so much as a spasmodic quiver did the stricken Sharkey betray the life still burned within. He was spread out in the crumpled, lifeless way of an old and abandoned bed sheet. At five, it was evident that he was beyond all human assistance. At seven, his mouthpiece drooled out a little hoarsely and rolled upon the ring floor. At ten, they simply had to come and get him.

The end came after 2 minutes and 57 seconds of the sixth round, a right uppercut, delivered with every pound of Carnera's 260½ pounds, it was the means. Pandemonium was the result.

While Sharkey sat and tried to blink his way through the vapors of a slight concussion that later needed the attention of a physician, the Carnera crowd went momentarily loco. The gorilla man capered and bellowed like one bereft of his senses. The banker, Louis Forest, looking very singular in the sweater and shoes of a professional wrestler, tried to embrace the huge, sweating hulk and just about made the half-way point. Mr. Will Duffy was even more ambitious. He tried to lift the man upon his shoulders. Mr. Duffy will try all sorts of anything. For further information see the records of New York state.

Meantime the press stand was a bedlam of Latin journalists suddenly in glee and even physical in their attempt to hail the first Italian ever to gain the heavyweight championship. They were pretty violent about this but somehow one could not feel entirely out of sympathy with their enthusiasm. They not only had the new champion but I suspect, a great one.

How great, nobody can rightly say at this time. Maybe Max Baer, the big club and bludgeon man from California, who will furnish the answer. He knocked out Schmeling, Carnera knocked out Sharkey. Thus, within the space of a few brief weeks, a new dynasty was created, the old wiped out, and since we are a material generation, quick to dismiss the past as lightly as though it never had been, a Carnera-Baer fight for the title is inevitable.

Sharkey of course, wants another chance. They often do but seldom mean it. Personally, I feel that so far as Sharkey is concerned, it would be premature. Besides there are some who believe that he doesn't deserve a chance, that he climaxed and, in fact, ended a highly unsatisfactory career by failing to display the proper amount of truculence and obstinacy. There are even some who claim that the punch did not hurt him.

See Punch
But I'm a little limited that way. I only saw the punch. I did not feel it and so was forced to rely solely upon whatever facts were vouchsafed to the eye and ear. I mean that the noise somehow couldn't have been up to snuff, so to say, because it failed to note the odor of Gorgonzola so clearly detected by those who not only can sniff more keenly but much louder.

To me, the fixing of this fight was not tenable. For one thing, Sharkey took nearly all the money anyhow, and there was only around $300,000 for all concerned, at that. For another, the Carnera crowd is admittedly flatter than a glass of stale beer. For a third, they couldn't interest Sharkey in a share of Carnera's future because that is going about twelve different ways already and an added starter just couldn't make the change out of a quarter. There is one other observation that seems indicated, merely by way of rounding out the record. You don't have to fix perfection.

Interesting, Furius
The fight was always interesting and often furious. Carnera started out under the gun to impress Sharkey with his strength and twice during the first round hurled him half way across the ring and into the ropes.

In between demonstrations, he cut-off the old champion considerably and, near the bell, clipped him hard with a right to the head.

Sharkey boxed his way through the next two, sometimes shifting and throwing rights to the head with great gusto. Still, Carnera dug a left to the body in the third that did John no permanent good and then the big fellow came in to even matters by taking the fourth behind some vigorous rough and tumble business that probably was nullified by warnings from the referee. The fifth was even. The sixth is history.

So, by now, is that strange and wondrous human document they call Jack Sharkey. A man of vast frustration, the master indeed, of anti-climax, he finally lived to become champion. But last night he smiled and waved almost gayly as they cheered him out of a prize ring for the first time and, on both sides, the ceremony was not altogether meaningless.

For he knew and they knew that Jack Sharkey, the champion, was, to all practical purpose, dead.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Condemned to servitude with the tail-end Phillies though the Cubs and Braves have bid $100,000 and more for him, Chuck Klein still shines brightly as the National League's outstanding hitter.

The slugging outfielder hit four for four and drove in all of his team's runs yesterday as the Phils beat Pittsburgh 6 to 4. He walloped included his 14th and 15th homers of the year, putting him two up on Cliff Berger in the National League home run derby.

Jimmy Fox of the A's, 1932 home run king, became two up on Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig in the American League circuit clotting circuit by smacking No. 19 as the Mackmen downed the Braves, 4 to 1, behind Lefty Grove's pitching. Bob Johnson's homer accounted for the A's other two runs.

The Yanks tied Washington for first place by shelling Cleveland, 9 to 3, while the Nats lost to Detroit. Vernon Gomes kept Cleveland's 12 hits scattered while Babe Ruth led the attack on three Cleveland hurlers with a double and two singles.

Detroit nosed out Washington in the ninth, 6 to 4, with a bunting at Jack. The league-leading New Yorkers are still 3½ games ahead of the Red Birds, however.

With two former Dodgers leading the attack, Chicago's Cubs crushed Brooklyn, 7 to 2. Babe Herman poled a homer and a double and Gink Hendrick chipped in with a triple and two doubles. Guy Bush and Walter Back both went the route. Other clubs did not play.

"Secret Punch" Koyed Sharkey

Carnera Has Been Practicing Punch For Weeks That Laid Sharkey Cold

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 30.—The short right uppercut which sent Jack Sharkey into slumberland last night was a "secret punch," which Primo Carnera had been practicing for weeks, the Italian declared today.

"They say I can't hit with my right so I let them think so," grinned de Preem. "But I learn to kick like a horse with it and I let Sharkey have it when he don't expect it."

Ranking College Stars Play Today

(International News Service)
HAVERFORD, Pa., June 30.—Jack Tidball, of the University of California at Los Angeles, top seeded player, today faced Wilmer Hines of North Carolina, eighth ranking netman, in the initial match of the semi-finals for the national inter-collegiate championship at the Barton Cricket Club.

The second singles battle brings together the third and fourth seeded stars, Karl Kamrath, University of Texas racket king, and R. T. Murphy of Hamilton College, N. Y.

In the first encounter of the doubles semi-finals, Kamrath and Sterling Williams, first seeded team, were to meet the formidable duo of Edwards Sutter and Kendall Cram, of Tulane.

J. Coughlin and Sam Lee, of Stanford, will cross rackets with Tidball and Larry Myers, of California, in the second match.

West Side Tigers Beat Mahoning

American Champs Take First Game From National Leaders

THREATENS TIGERS IN SIXTH, SEVENTH

West Side Tigers, American loop champs, today are one up on Mahoning A. A., National division kings, in the three-game series for the first half championship of the Lawrence county league, having won 6 to 5 Thursday on Lee avenue field before approximately 4,500 fans.

The Tigers scored runs in the first five frames but received a stiff scare in the sixth when Mahoning scored twice on three hits and three runs in the seventh on two walks, a single and two errors. Houston hit a homer to deep center in the fourth.

Contrary to expectations, Nick Gangey, manager of Mahoning, did not start either Perretti or Eutaw and chose Frigine, who gave way to Perretti. Manager Black crossed up the works by sending Stone to the mound but he was relieved by Houston in the seventh.

Mahoning got into difficulty in the first when Frigine passed James. Jackson singled to second, advancing James, and Houston was safe when James was retired by a fielder's choice at third. Jackson scored to center, scoring Jackson and Houston.

Cowmeadow, first up for the Tigers in the second, singled to short, and with Hughes and Stone down, Cowmeadow stole second and scored when James doubled to right field. The side was retired when Jackson grounded out to first base.

Mahoning was held scoreless again in the first of the third but when the Tigers went to bat the roar of the fans greeted Houston's long home run clout to deep center. Manager Gangey yanked Frigine, retired Scaglione and sent Perretti to the hurling box.

Gall Scores Jackson.
Mahoning failed to break into the run column in the first of the fourth. The Tigers got two. With one down, James walked, likewise Jackson. Houston was thrown out, pitcher to first, the runners advancing.

Perretti purposely walked McCullough, filling the bases, and Perretti gave the Tigers a run when he followed with a complimentary ticket to Chill, which gave the Tigers their fifth run. Gall singled to right, scoring Jackson with the sixth run.

Neither team could score in the fifth frame and it looked like the Tigers would win bats down but Mahoning came up in the sixth and Orlando started the fireworks by singling through second to center and Calipetri followed with a single to left, advancing Orlando to third. Calipetri went to second on the throw for Orlando at third.

C. Picarro came through with a sharp single to left which sent Orlando and Calipetri scurrying home with the first two runs Mahoning got and the Mahoning fans went wild. Perretti fanned. Mash went out on a high fly to McCullough and Dominick popped out to Stone.

Mahoning Rallies
Tigers were retired easily in the sixth and Mahoning came up for their last chance to beat in a victory and for a time it appeared as though they would. Stone walked Perretti and followed by passing Frigine. Frigine working himself in a hole, Perretti knocked the ball to Houston who threw low to first and on the error

Says Sharkey Was Asleep On Canvas Listening To Carnera Birds

NEW YORK, June 30.—At nine fifty-five last night, practically everybody in the country knew that there was a new world's champion, that is, everybody except Jack Sharkey, as he was asleep at the time.

Mr. Sharkey entered the ring at exactly nine-thirty and left a ten o'clock call. Twenty-five minutes later he was lying flat on the canvas listening to the singing of the Carnera birds.

This all happened in the sixth round, when a right hook to the chin reminded Mr. Sharkey of that old adage: "People with glass jaws shouldn't throw boxing gloves."

Sharkey Surprised
When the attendants revived him, Jack was puzzled and asked what had happened?

"You were knocked out," replied one of the seconds. "Knocked out?" gasped Sharkey, "then you mean it's all a dream about my licking Carnera?"

The doctors examined Jack and found that his chin was badly cut but it wasn't from his opponent's glove. Sharkey had scraped the skin off his jaw taking bows from the floor.

The fallen champion could have gotten up at any time, but he didn't realize that the referee was counting 'ten' over him; he thought he was reading him the game receipts.

The seconds then picked Sharkey up and carried him to his corner. This wasn't necessary, however, as he could easily have walked over there, but he wanted to save his strength for the return match.

Although Carnera had delivered several hard rights to the stomach, it was not these blows that made Sharkey ill. He had gotten ptoimaine poisoning in the third round from eating an over-ripe sponge.

Fries Of Cheese
When the doctors examined Carnera after the fight they discovered that he had a piece of cheese concealed in each glove so that he could give his opponent cauliflower ears au-gratin.

The new champion was highly

Swift To Pitch For Pittsburgh

Manager Gibson Will Try To Get Pirates Back On Winning Streak Again

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Bill Swift is ready to work for the Pirates today in the second of their four-game stay in Philadelphia.

Yesterday's 6-4 Quaker victory was a one-man show with "Chuck" Klein in the leading role. The Phils home-run artist banged out four hits, including two round-trippers. To bat in four runs and score two himself for a perfect day at plate. Pittsburgh put on another late rally, and pushed over two runs in the ninth and placed the tying tallies on bases before being retired. Heine Meine gave the Phils all their markers.

The Pirates return home after Saturday's double-header with Manager Burt Shotton's crew. Pittsburgh holds a big edge over the Phils in games played to date, being winners in five of seven meetings.

Cream Of College And High School Track Teams At Chicago Meet

METCALFE WILL RACE 100 METERS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 30.—The cream of the nation's track stars, including 30 Olympic athletes, were ready for the feature event tonight in Chicago's three day track carnival, the forty-sixth renewal of the Men's National A. A. U. championships. Hopes for the 100 meter dash of the century tonight between Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette University and Jesse Owens, negro schoolboy from Cleveland, were chilled somewhat in the national A. A. U. junior dash yesterday when Jimmy Johnson, negro sprinter from Illinois State Normal, defeated the Cleveland flash. Thus Metcalfe will face Johnson as the chief menace. Johnson ran the 100 meters in 10 4-10 seconds, one tenth of a second slower than the accepted world mark.

Four Olympic champions who will go into action are Dr. Pat O'Callaghan from Ireland, winner of the hammer throw; Eddie Gordon, formerly of the University of Iowa, now unattached winner of the broad jump; John Anderson of the New York A. C., discus champion, and Bill Miller of Stanford and the Olympic club, pole vault champion.

Good Hurdlers
Probably at no time before have four better high hurdlers been collected in one meet than those who will parade their talents tonight. They are Jack Keller of Ohio State, Percy Beard of the New York A. C., Al Moreau of Louisiana State and Gus Meier of Stanford and the Olympic Club.

A brilliant battle is expected in the 200 meter low hurdles between Keller and Glen Hardin of Louisiana State, while in the 400 meter hurdles Hardin must beat Joe Healey of the New York A. C. in his quest for a new world's record which he has bettered in practice this week.

One of the prime features will be the three-cornered match in the 800 meter race between Charlie Hornbostel of Indiana, Glenn Cunningham of Kansas and Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic star. Another is the 1,500 meter race between Gene Venzke of the New York A. C. and Cunningham.

Chapter two in the track carnival will be written this afternoon when women track and field stars from all parts of the country compete for National A. A. U. championships. The eleven events will see practically every member of the American Olympic team on hand.

Baer And Carnera Fight Is Planned

Garden Officials And Jack Dempsey Will Confer Over Next Championship Bout

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 30.—A mad scramble was underway today by promoters anxious to close for a bout between Primo Carnera, new heavyweight champion, and Max Baer, conqueror of Max Schmeling.

While Carnera is under contract to make his first title defense under the auspices of Madison Square Garden, Baer is controlled by the Garden's rival, Jack Dempsey. Unless the Garden can wean Baer away from Dempsey, it was believed today the Carnera-Baer fight would be staged under the joint promotion of the Garden and Dempsey, Jack was to confer with Garden officials on the proposition today.

GRAINS SLUMP
AS MARKET OPENS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 30.—The stock market continued its erratic course today with bullish demonstrations in several groups being off-set by pressure elsewhere in the list.

An opening slump in grains, wheat losing more than 2 cents a bushel, was an added unsettling influence. Combined with this weakness in cotton and reactionary tendencies in other commodities, the dollar declined slightly after yesterday's record-breaking recovery. Foreign exchanges were more subdued after yesterday's wild fluctuations.

Stocks opened heavy with losses running to more than a point. Support was provided by heavy buying in the coppers and some of the rails, particularly the coal roads. Later the gold mining shares were given a whirl.

The rest of the list was under pressure, however, with considerable profit-taking for the approaching holidays. Liquor stocks lost further ground while the utilities continued to show pressure as the result of the drive to cut rates.

Food stocks were sluggish after their strength of the last few days while the decline in grains weighed down the farm stocks.

Financial issues like U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical and American Can were backward and failed to make progress on the rallies.

International Nickel was the feature of the coppers. The stock was taken to a new high in enormous dealings. Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley were the strong spots in the rails.

The bullish week-end trade reviews was a supporting influence and helped steady the market on the reactionary spots.

A few issues forged ahead on special influences, particularly American Rolling Mills and U. S. Pipe & Foundry.

Motor shares were reactionary. Drug was lower following the announcement of its dissolution plan. Amusement shares were firm, oil and steel tended lower on profit-taking.

Bonds continued to make additional progress, led by the rails and governments.

BEST FISH TAIL
OF ALL TIME

LIVERPOOL—Here's a fish tale about a fish that saved a ship. The 32-ton "Admiral" grounded near the entrance to Wicklow harbor, Ireland, and water poured into her hold through a gap in the hull. A cargo was put ashore and pumps went into action. Pretty soon the hull was strangely empty. No more water was rushed in.

It was soon discovered that the tail of a big fish, still alive, had become wedged in the hole. Engineers cemented the fish, still wriggling in this position, a certificate of seaworthiness was obtained, and the ship crossed the channel to Liverpool.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Phineas Q. Wheelzblotz, walking delegate of the Park Sitters Protective Association was in today with a chip on his shoulder the size of a walking beam and a glint in his eye that boded no good for someone in a big way. In short, Mr. Wheelzblotz was in a state. In other words he was mad.

"As a member of the Fourth Estate, the defender of public rights and the purveyor of news you ought to do something about a condition that has arisen," said Mr. Wheelzblotz. "It concerns the new seats in the parks, the concrete seats with no backs and a surface as hard as a term in the workhouse."

"The boys are very unhappy about the whole thing. For years they have been accustomed to benches with backs, with a curve in the back to accommodate the natural back of the spine. And then overnight, in the twinkling of an eye you might say, somebody runs in a bunch of concrete seats that have no backs. Something certainly should be done."

As Mr. Wheelzblotz left, after borrowing a cigarette and a match, we promised that we'd put a piece in the paper in which the indignation of himself and his colleagues would be set before the public in no uncertain tones and there you are.

Every street in town has something in the way of flowers this year that stands it out from the other streets and Englewood avenue's seems to be hydrangeas. Drove out there last night and somehow they seem to have hydrangeas that are larger and whiter than any we've seen.

And just now the annual rose show is on, on North Mercer street. The climbing roses on the wall around the Hoyt estate are in full bloom and what a picture they make to be sure. Great clusters of them, piled up as though they had been tossed there. Pinks and whites and deeper shades, tumbling over one another in gorgeous display, a sight that is worth a trip around that way just to enjoy them.

That's the nice part of climbing roses. They might be owned by one person but they belong to the whole city. They're out there, blooming just as profusely for the passing stranger as they are for the owner.

The American Legion Junior team will be ready to do battle shortly now according to Gomer Emery who has the youngsters in charge. Out of fifty or sixty embryo Babe Ruths, he has selected a team that looks good and most any day now they will be out battling.

This Bumblebee Knows Its Restaurant

STEBENVILLE, O., June 30.—William Thomas, proprietor of a wayside inn near Harlem Springs, O., reports that an educated bumblebee visits his inn. Death, Crop Ruin Are Laid To Heat
